

Heisey Celeries

Eric Tankesley-Clarke for
Great Plains Heisey Club
May, 2015

A list of Heisey celery trays (also called flat celeries) and tall celeries (also called celery vases), together with relishes with compartments for celery. Most Heisey celery trays were at least 9" long. I only included a relish if it had a relatively narrow compartment at least 9" long. Listed roughly chronologically.

#1205 Fancy Loop Celeries. All are made from the same mould. Left side, from top: Celery tray, 11"; Celery tray Shape C; Celery tray Shape A. Right side, Celery tray Shape C; Celery tray Shape B.

Shape B is most nearly the shape as it came out of the mould, nearly flat. Shape A has the two ends pushed up. Shape C has the four diagonal sides pushed up.

The 11" tray (upper left) has both the ends and the sides pushed up to form a rectangle. This is how many of the early celeries were made.

Celery raw
Develops the jaw,
But celery stewed
Is more quietly chewed.
